- Description:
  - She used to be an assassin in her heydays but one day she decided that she was done with that line of work. Although this does not mean she lost her edge she will still protect the business she built from the ground up.
  - She can get the orders that are placed at lighting speed, due to her assassin background. People are always amused when seeing this which may be the reason she gains so much business.
  - Because of her short stature she is barely able to see above her own counter but you can still make eye contact if you can see over the counter.
