Wondrous Item, unknown rarity

This item is not of the physical plane but is a gift you know is bestowed on the wielder by the Goddess of Plants and Water, Chauntea. This gives the wielder small bits of magical power from the Goddess herself that grow with the user, as you grow in strength the gift always grants the wielder more and more magical capabilities even if they fail to have innate magical capabilities on their own.

2 times per long rest the wielder can use this gift to cast one of their nature-based spells using your CHA as your spellcasting ability modifier, and if you don't have magical abilities when wielding this item then you do not get to add your proficiency bonus to spell attack rolls. As well as surpassing any material components needed for any spells that this gift is casting.
